

Medialink: Love in Thirty Minutes or Less

February 13, 2006

Feb 13, 2006 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- You like the same movies, but do your pizza topping choices spell attraction? A new study reveals that what you like on your pizza may be the deciding factor on whether or not you're really attracted to your mate. Dr. Alan Hirsch, director of the Smell and Taste Treatment and Research Foundation, who conducted the "Domino's Pizza Toppings Tell All" study, explains the findings.

Radio News Feature

You can reach the story directly by going to <http://media.medialink.com/home.aspx?story=31630>

This multimedia news story is for free and unrestricted use on your news information site (and for print or broadcast too). Visit <http://media.medialink.com> to download video, audio, text, graphics and photos. If you have any questions about the story, or about Medialink, please write to us at mediadesk@medialink.com.

SOURCE: Medialink and Domino's Pizza, Inc.

Medialink, New York
mediadesk@medialink.com