Domino's Pizza Gets Ready for Thanksgiving Eve - One of Year's Busiest Nights

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 16 /PRNewswire/ -- Turkey, stuffing and cranberry sauce might be the official foods of Thanksgiving, but Domino's Pizza (NYSE: DPZ) is the official pizza of Thanksgiving Eve.

That's because Domino's pizza sales on Thanksgiving Eve are expected to increase by 68 percent over a typical Wednesday. This Wednesday night, Domino's Pizza will be delivering more than 1.1 million pizzas to homes across the country, as weary travelers arrive at their destinations, and cooks everywhere rest up for their big day in the kitchen on Thursday.

"It's one of those nights we highlight on the calendar and prepare for," said Domino's Pizza Chairman and CEO David A. Brandon. "Our stores stock up on fresh food. We increase our staffing levels, sometimes doubling them, to ensure we can meet the needs of hungry customers across the country."

"Thanksgiving Eve is among the busiest travel days of the year, and delivered pizza is a great meal to order once you arrive at your destination," said Brandon. "We know that many people are preparing to spend much of Thursday in the kitchen and don't want the hassle of spending time cooking and cleaning up on Wednesday. Pizza is the perfect solution and the delivery experts are just a call away."
